Dear Professor Guggenheim:

Thank you for your cordial letter of September 29th and for the trouble you took to get in touch with me.

It was indeed gratifying to have been invited to participate in the seminar which the American Bar Association's National Institute will be conducting on the fifth of November, and I am very sorry that my heavy schedule precludes my attendance. However, since the State Department will be represented by Michael D. Sandler of our Legal Office, I am certain that you may anticipate a stimulating exchange of views with him.

My best wishes for a most successful seminar.

Sincerely,

Patricia M. Derian
